

Washington Semester American Indian Program – Washington Internships for Native Students (WINS)

You are invited to participate in a unique internship opportunity in Washington, DC through Washington Internships for Native Students (WINS) at American University, one USA Today's top 100 schools. This experiential education program is focused on developing leadership and professional skills through an internship experience and academic support structure.

WINS is an experiential internship program that focuses on American Indian, Alaska Native, and Native Hawaiian students to create a hands-on professional experience. Additionally, students have the opportunity to enroll in courses at the American University, a USA today top 100 school. All academic credit hours are transferrable, but interested candidates should consult with their home school academic advisors.

If you are interested in developing your personal and professional skills, experiencing a dynamic city, and studying with fellow Native students, please consider applying to WINS for one of our fall, spring or summer sessions. You can find an online application at <https://applyws.american.edu/applications/>.

Your time with the WINS program will prepare you to be part of a strong community that includes federal employees, non-profit sector leaders, and law firm partners. The program will also provide you with a larger working network as you develop relationships with each other and alumnus of the program. WINS alums work in the public sector, private sector, non-profits and their communities. They represent some of the developing brightest and most innovative leaders of today.

What will you get out of the WINS program?

- Travel to and from Washington, DC
- Dormitory housing and a meal plan
- Coverage of tuition, books and institutional fees
- A bi-weekly living stipend
- Access to the amenities and benefits available to American University students

Apply today and explore the opportunities found through WINS. For further information about the program, please visit our website at www.american.edu/wins. If you have additional questions, please send them along to wins@american.edu or you may call us at (202) 885-5943.
